We've helped hundreds of Arizona families navigate fire recovery. We'd be honored to help you too.

What Most People Don't Know After a Fire

Your insurance covers more than you think

Most homeowner policies include contents restoration, temporary housing (called Additional Living Expenses), and professional pack-out services. You don't pay out of pocket for any of it.

Don't throw anything away

Items that look completely destroyed can often be professionally restored. Smoke-damaged clothing, electronics, and furniture are frequently salvageable. Let a contents team assess before anything goes in the dumpster.

You choose your own companies

Under Arizona law, you — not your adjuster or insurance company — decide which restoration companies work on your home and belongings. Your adjuster may suggest vendors, but the choice is always yours.

Document everything before it's moved

Before anything is touched, photograph and video every room, every piece of damage, and every item. Capture labels, model numbers, serial numbers. This protects your claim and ensures nothing is missed.

Recovery takes 3–6 months

This timeline is completely normal. Having a clear plan, a good team, and the right resources makes it manageable. You will get through this.

⚠ The First 48 Hours Are Critical

Smoke and soot continue damaging your belongings every hour they sit untreated. The sooner a professional pack-out begins, the more items can be saved. If you're within this window, call us now.

6 Steps to Start Your Recovery

1. Get Safe
   Ensure everyone is out. Don't re-enter until cleared by fire dept. Account for pets and medications.
2. Call Your Insurance
   File your claim ASAP. Get your claim number, request emergency services, and ask for an ALE advance for temporary housing.
3. Document Everything
   Photo and video every room before anything is moved. Capture close-ups, labels, serial numbers. This protects your claim.
4. Know Who Does What
   Mitigation secures the structure. Contents company (us) handles belongings. Contractor rebuilds. You choose all of them.
5. Call a Contents Company
   We inventory, pack, clean, and store your belongings while repairs happen. Fully covered by insurance — no cost to you.
6. Follow the Timeline
   Recovery has clear phases. Use our free checklist at azfirehelp.com so nothing falls through the cracks.

⚠ Costly Mistakes to Avoid

- ✗ Throwing away items before the adjuster inspects them
- ✗ Accepting the first settlement offer without reviewing it
- ✗ Not claiming recoverable depreciation (20–40% of your settlement!)
- ✗ Failing to save receipts for temporary living expenses
- ✗ Missing policy deadlines for supplements and depreciation claims
- ✗ Signing contractor agreements without reading the fine print
- ✗ Not keeping a log of every call with your insurance company

Insurance Tips That Save You Money

Additional Living Expenses (ALE)
Your policy covers temporary housing, restaurant meals, laundry, pet boarding, and extra commuting. Save every receipt — families who track carefully recover $5,000–$15,000 more.

✓ Recoverable Depreciation
Insurance pays Actual Cash Value first, then reimburses depreciation after you replace items. This is 20–40% of your total settlement. You must claim it before the deadline. Many families miss this.

Your Adjuster Works for the Insurance Co.
They represent the insurer, not you. For losses over $50K, consider a public adjuster (5–15% fee) who advocates on your behalf. Most valuable early, before accepting an initial offer.

Keep a Claim Journal
Log every insurance call: date, name, reference number, and summary. This paper trail protects you if disputes arise.
